

Coating R&D Engineer

12,000-1,5000/month

Anhui Kingcham New Materials Co., Ltd.

www.kingcham.com*Website address

Job information

1. Job Responsibilities:

1. Participate in the formulation of annual R&D strategies and plans according to the company's overall yearly strategy;
2. Responsible for the internal operation management and R&D team-building of the company's R&D department, optimizing and improving the company's R&D management system and process;
3. Carry out extensive market research on new products and new technologies, provide feasibility analysis reports, and formulate research and development plans for the company's new products and new technology projects;
4. Provide theoretical and practical guidance to the R&D members' experimental plans to solve problems in R&D;
5. Coordinate the security management of R&D knowledge, information, intellectual property protection, etc.;
6. Organize the acceptance and appraisal of new products and R&D projects, write R&D summary reports; be responsible for the application of new product patents and product-related certification applications;

2. Job requirements:

1. Master degree or above in materials science, materials science, and engineering or chemistry, physical chemistry, optics or polymer related majors, a doctoral degree is preferred;
2. More than three years of research work experience, with solid professional knowledge, rich project experience, and good experimental design capabilities;
3. Priority will be given to those who have published advanced journal articles or applied for patents during the school period;
4. Passionate about R&D positions, willing to work with the company, and to join as soon as possible is a priority.

3. Salary and benefits

1. Basic salary + performance + subsidy + year-end bonus + holiday subsidy;
2. Five insurances and one housing fund + accident insurance + regular physical examination + annual travel;
3. Chemistry majors are guided and taught by full-time university professors;
4. R&D and engineering departments have special project bonuses;
5. In the enterprise development and transformation process, as long as you have an idea, dare to realize yourself!
6. The company provides free accommodation and working meals;

Note: It is currently a big and small week, with an average of 40 hours per week, and if overtime is worked, it will be subsidized by law.

Functional Category: Coating R&D Engineer

Keywords: coating chemical coating research and development

Your application (Apply for a job)*link

To ensure the fastest process of your application and protect the environment, please apply online via our careers portal at (<https://careers.kingcham.com>)*Website address.